

I' M LOVING ME

P R O J E C T

Charissa Lauren, Publicist

ABOUT THE I'M LOVING ME PROJECT:

What do you see when you look in the mirror?

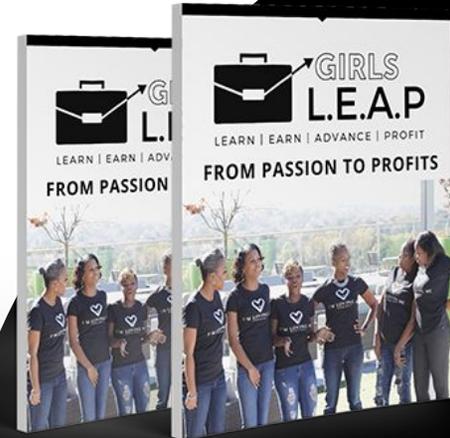

When creating the now viral movement, The I'm Loving Me Project, Founder Gloria Ward set one goal: to empower and inspire 1 million women worldwide. We want 1 million women to find self-love, grow in life, grow in business and soar. We want to change how women see their reflections.

Now just 1 year since the movement's launch, women all over the world have been sharing insights and personal success stories with I'm Loving Me. Women who have overcome adversity, turned trial into triumph and discovered inner meaning and self-love are in the spotlight. Stigmas are being broken and women are opening up about adversity and taking action in their future, thriving in business and in life.

We've heard direct stories of autism mothers, cyber harassment advocates, mental health advocates, abuse survivors, kidnapping survivors, heart attack survivors, authors and business owners alike. We've found that sometimes the greatest success stories are from those who have overcome and those who have found strength and learned to prosper.

ABOUT THE I'M LOVING ME PROJECT:

The brand has grown tremendously with a platform of over 10K since its launch with a Facebook LIVE webinar series, blog, business tools and insights such as the Girl's L.E.A.P. Program and the Self-Love Conversations Podcast, various workshops, an online store and more. Sticking to a goal to create a community for women to come to thrive, the I'm Loving Me Project plans to inspire women on a global level.

AS SEEN IN:

ABOUT THE FOUNDER:

Gloria Ward is an Entrepreneur, Revenue Strategist, Author, and New Thought Leader who has been at the forefront of helping women and women business owners learn, grow and profit.

She's the revenue strategist that small businesses turn to for guidance. For more than 12 years, clients have enjoyed the confidence, humor, and relatable step by step strategies of her business advice and tactics. Her company, The L.E.A.P. Group LLC, is a personal development and business education company that inspires and empowers women to win the game of life and build a million-dollar business from scratch.

Gloria is a software engineer by trade. Receiving her bachelors and masters in Computer Science from Clark- Atlanta University, Gloria caught the entrepreneur bug and started a small IT firm where she started out building and fixing college kids computers and went on to managing and designing computer networks and software for fortune 100 companies.

With the success of her IT firm, she found herself in the late 2000's delving into digital marketing and social media. She found a business mentor who took her under his wing and went on to produce E-books, and digital courses that generated over one million dollars in revenue.

It was Gloria's passion for business and down to earth approach that has made her the most sought out female entrepreneur of her era. Gloria is a Big lover of music and lives in Atlanta Georgia, where she's is a mom of two four legged creatures.

HOW I'M LOVING ME WAS BORN:

No stranger to adversity, Gloria was born and bred in the Bronx of New York where she lived a life of limited means and family struggle. She knows a thing or two about the personal limits women can set for themselves. Losing her mother after a long battle with addiction, Gloria was raised by her grandmother who always told her to "write her own ticket" in life. This mentality stuck.

"I strongly believe in order to improve anything in your life personally or professionally it starts with YOU taking a good hard look at yourself," -

Gloria Ward

Refusing to let her upbringing define her life, Ward wove her future success and is now one of the most successful entrepreneurs in her area. She serves as an example for women to overcome those imaginary limits and become their most vibrant selves. Strong-will, determination, drive, and passion are the fuel that feed this female hustler. She wanted women everywhere to thrive this same way. Her purpose is to inspire. I'm Loving Me is her platform.

"I've always believed that the world is not as complex as we think. That it's quite simple actually. You were born with a purpose and it's your job to discover what it is and serve."

